

TWM Solicitors Combines Data Protection and Mobility with Zerto

At TWM Solicitors, their IT department needs to ensure applications are up and running 24/7. Lawyers are working around the clock and need to access case-related documents to meet the needs and deadlines of their clients. If they aren't able to access their data, the results would be catastrophic for their clients. Additionally, in today's world, they need a solution that allows them to safely work remotely.

Using their existing solution, it would take TWM Solicitors weeks to rebuild their environment, including exchange servers and critical document management systems. This business's need for fast, easy, and reliable disaster recovery (DR) led them to partner with Zerto to protect their data and servers.

Before Zerto, TWM Solicitors faced the risk of ransomware attacks and had no clear disaster recovery processes in place to ensure they could recreate their complex environment in the event of any disruptions. The platform's continuous data protection provided TWM Solicitors with simple, fast recovery with recovery point objectives of seconds and recovery time objectives of minutes.

TWM Solicitors moved to a hybrid cloud DR model with Zerto to support their recent shift from primarily on-premises-based operations to increasingly remote based. In addition to the faster, more granular recovery, the hybrid cloud approach allows them the flexibility to move applications and add capacity on demand to optimize for remote working.

With limited IT staff, TWM Solicitors needed a solution that was simple to deploy and use that required minimal maintenance. With Zerto, the TWM Solicitors IT team has been able to reallocate time to more productive tasks.

Additionally, they are now able to recover from any event in a few minutes versus an hour, which saves their IT team time.

We set up the platform and did the failover and it literally took a couple of hours and I was so impressed. It just worked, and it was easy to do . . . It's just so easy. And that, for me, is the brilliance.

Alan Barrett
TWM Solicitors, Head of IT

“Prior to having Zerto, I would've had to literally run a backup, restore, backup, restore. It probably would've taken me two to three days restoring and configuring. Prior to that, I probably would've had to spend up to a week to be fully operational again,” said Alan Barrett, head of IT at TWM Solicitors.

In the future, TWM Solicitors hopes to use Zerto to move more workloads into the cloud while utilizing the platform's continuous disaster recovery. The Zerto platform will help make future TWM Solicitors' data migrations seamless.

Zerto was able to help TWM Solicitors meet their demands for continuous backup for better disaster recovery, and the future of backup is moving toward continuous backups instead of periodic. Zerto can help you combine backup, disaster recovery, and cloud mobility into one platform.
